

EXPLORE THE

Blanton Museum of Art

There's a lot to discover on the museum grounds, including plenty of Texas-sized works of art and architecture.

- Kick off your tour by visiting the Check-In lobby on your way to the Museum Store. Look up at the giant spectrum of colors. Head to the second floor to see it from above.
- Count how many petals—the big shade structures with holes in them—are on the museum grounds. (Hint: it's the same number of UT football games in the regular season.) In addition to helping cool the grounds, the petals collect rainwater and funnel it to irrigate the landscape.
- Have a seat with your friends & family and enjoy the view of the Texas State Capitol and Austin by Ellsworth Kelly, which is both a work of art and a building.
- Find the two murals on the museum grounds. One offers a very Texas-style welcome—from a Texan artist, no less! The other uses a color you may recognize from another Austin sports team.
- Relax on a bench beneath the oak trees of the Butler Sound Gallery. The artwork here is something you must listen carefully for. Do you recognize any Texas wildlife sounds?
